ATTLEE SAFE FOR PRESENT IN BIG CRISIS

LABOR GOVERNMENT IN BRITAIN LACKS DYNAMIC LEADERS

BY ARTHUR GOVSHON AND TOM WILLIAMS

London, Aug. 16 (P)—Frank discussions with responsible spokesmen for Britain's three major parties indicate that the Labor government likely will weather the storm—barring a complete industrial breakdown—despite an economic crisis as threatening as was Dunkerque.

Prime Minister Attlee's own position, for the present at least, appears to be secure. Despite the political implications of the nation's plight and criticism within his own party, there has been no one to challenge his leadership.

Critics have complained that his leadership is not dynamic, that it lacks vigor, imagination, and appeal. But it is an open secret in British political circles that Attlee, from the start, has owed his position to "the equation of opposites."

Another aspect that cannot be discounted entirely is that the Conservatives have no stomach to assume charge of the government at this late stage when the full impact of the crisis may be expected to hit at any moment.

"There is little possibility," said a Conservative spokesman, "of unseating the government before the next general election in 1950."

This general viewpoint was borne out in discussions with members of the dominant Labor party and the Liberal party, smallest of the top three.

Turning to Left

Reporting there was no immediate prospect of Attlee's "being forced out as prime minister," Labor party sources said an internal labor upset at No. 10 Downing St. could occur only in the event Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Dalton and Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the board of trade, joined forces and demanded a change.

A delicate balance between these personalities has been maintained in the past only because Attlee was acceptable to them all.

But there are signs Attlee's government will turn still further to the left.

First, the Left-Wingers opposed 18-month conscription for the armed forces and won. With some embarrassment, the government reduced the peace-time military conscription period from 18 months to one year.

Now another battle is brewing over nationalization of the iron and steel industry, and there is an indication that again the government may yield to members of parliament who are unwilling to compromise, despite the national emergency, on their election pledges to socialize Britain's basic industries. State ownership of iron and steel would complete the nationalization program outlined by the party in the 1945 election campaign.

Grounds for divorce

Marshalltown, Ia., Aug. 16 (P)—Roy E. Cooper testified in district court here today that his wife, Imogene Cooper, former Decatur, Ala., girl, called him a "stupid damned Yankee."

"In this state that's grounds for divorce," said Judge B. O. Tankersley as he granted Cooper a decree.

Weather Goes Fickle Today; Heat Is Eased

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weather, which has shown a distressing single-mindedness recently, was expected to turn fickle as a debutante today.

From the Great Lakes eastward through the North Atlantic states the forecast was for cool, pleasant weather; thunderstorms were in prospect for a wide area in the Middle Atlantic states, portions of the midwest, and the Lower Mississippi Valley; morning cloudiness and fog was expected on the Pacific coast, and a new warmup was abetting in the Southern Great Plains.

The week's weather news, the heat wave, was reported definitely broken after gasping its last over the east. From the Great Lakes region eastward through New York and New England generally fair and pleasant weather was expected Sunday, with cool temperatures in the eastern section and about seasonable readings in the lakes area.

Scattered thundershowers were on the weather menu throughout a wide band including Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, southern Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. Portions of the Dakotas, Minnesota and western Wisconsin also were due to get sprinkled.

Grain experts said a good, soaking rain was urgently needed to halt corn deterioration. Some fairly heavy rains occurred earlier in southern Illinois, but the rainfall was too spotty to be credited with benefiting the sector generally.

Meanwhile, hot weather was developing again in the Great Plains, from South Dakota southward to Oklahoma and northern Texas.

CHECK PLANNED ON U. S. TROOPS

Army Investigates Story Of Low Morale Among Soldiers in Italy

Washington, Aug. 16 (P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army chief of staff said today an investigator—probably the inspector general himself—will go to Italy to check on the administration of Gen. John C. H. Lee, commander of the Mediterranean theater.

Eisenhower, who arrived at the Washington national airport at 4:50 p. m. (EST) from a tour of Alaska's defense bases, told reporters that Lee himself had wired the war department asking that an investigation be made.

Eisenhower said the Maj. Gen. Ira T. Wyche, the inspector general, probably will make the trip. Eisenhower said he did not "know much about" published reports concerning Lee's administration and the morale of American troops and that "about all I know is what I saw in the papers."

A series of articles in the past week by Robert C. Ruark, American correspondent, alleged low morale among troops in Italy.

The chief of staff said that when he was in Italy in October of last year he found the 88th Division in "surprisingly high morale."

However, he said he did not go down into the southern part of Italy where General Lee has his headquarters.

Fleet Admiral King Rests After Stroke; Has No Paralysis

Washington, Aug. 16 (P)—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, boss of America's toughest navy war, rested in Naval hospital today after developing what the Navy described as "slight evidence of a stroke without paralysis."

The 69-year-old former chief of Naval operations was taken to the hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md., yesterday. A bulletin today said his condition is "definitely not critical," although he spent a restless night. He has arteriosclerosis, an abnormal thickening and hardening of the artery walls.

The tall, bronzed admiral, first man to serve simultaneously as commander-in-chief of the United States fleet and as chief of Naval operations, expressed and carried out his belief during the last war that there is no way to win except "by going in there and slugging."

Since the war's end he has militantly maintained that a powerful postwar navy is one of the most potent forces for continuation of peace.

LUCKLESS GI'S ESCORT MULES

Trip To Greece Won't Be Sightseeing For Soldiers

BY FRANCIS E. BARDEN

Fort Reno, Okla., Aug. 16 (P)—Remember the 100 sweating GI's gentling 1,000 U. S. mules for the Greeks?

They're a quiet bunch tonight. The last straw has just fallen on their aching backs.

They are going to Greece as nursemaids to the mules.

An it will be no sight-seeing tour.

As soon as they get the mules—sent as part of a $400,000,000 U. S. Greek-Turkish aid program—safely to a Greek port they will turn right around and return to the U. S.

The mules and the GI's will not all go together, however.

Five hundred of the mules and 50 of the GI's will sail from New Orleans around Sept. 1, Col. Morris M. L'Abbe, commander of the remount station here, was advised.

Then—so no partiality will be shown in the matter—the original 50 GI's will remain in the U. S. and the other 50 will go with the other 500 mules at a date to be set later.

One of the saddest looking mule skinnings, when word of the trip seeped out, was Pfc. Charles McGrath, who lived in San Francisco, Calif., before he took up the army as a career.

"I was all set to get married next month," he moaned. "And now what have I got ahead of me?"

"A honeymoon with a mule, instead."

Senator Arranges To Inspect Hughes $25,000,000 Plane

Culver City, Calif., Aug. 16 (P)—Sen. Harry Cain (R-Wash.) and plane builder Howard Hughes made a date today to inspect Hughes' $25,000,000 Flying Boat Monday morning.

The senator, member of the War Investigating Committee, said it was more convenient to look over the huge ship than to today as he and Hughes had planned. The big plane has yet to fly, Hughes' associates having said it will be several months more before test flights.

The senator said his inspection was in connection with committee hearings, scheduled to resume in November, on the $40,000,000 in contracts given to Hughes for building the two types of planes.

Bear Lake Flying Farmer Killed In Light Plane Crash

Bear Lake, Mich., Aug. 16 (P)—George Bolling, 44-year-old flying farmer, died today of injuries suffered in a plane crash which left his two young passengers unscathed.

Bolling, who piloted his own light plane to spray his fruit orchards here, crashed five feet from the summit of a nearby hill after the craft's engine failed.

Orchard employees had to extricate Bolling from the wreckage with chisels, but his niece and nephew, Betty, 11, and Russell, 10, Bolling, were not scratched.

Bolling died several hours later at Mercy hospital at Manistee.

Bodies Of 54 Dug Out Of British Coal Mine; 3 Alive; 50 Not Found

BY ERNEST AGNEW

Whitehaven, Eng., Aug. 16 (P)—Rescue squads dug 54 scorched, twisted bodies out of blasted William coal mine today and speeded the search for 50 other missing miners—spurred by the "miracle survival" of three men trapped more than 21 hours in the 135-year-old undersea shaft.

The three shocked and bruised explosion survivors—who were among the 117 trapped last yesterday in Britain's worst coal mine disaster in 13 years—stumbled into the arms of rescue workers this afternoon.

They had been entombed for nearly a day and a night in abandoned reaches of Britain's oldest underwater mine that stretches under an inlet of the Irish Sea on England's northwest coast.

Rescue of the trio raised the roll of survivors to 13 and rekindled the flickering hopes for those still missing after more than 24 hours of slow digging through the wreckage. Deadly mine gas slowed down rescue operations.

One coal board official called it a "miracle survival" but emphasized that hopes of finding any more alive were "very slight."

"After the explosion we started to move away from the explosion and saw another group of men," John Birkett, one of the three survivors, told reporters. "We tried to get them out of the explosive area but the air was getting foul then and these men would not come back."

Fate of the men who refused to flee toward the abandoned extreme seaward end of the mine was disclosed by a National Coal board official who said "the bodies of the second group have been found."

Cheers from a worried, grim crowd of several thousand gathered at the mine entrance greeted the appearance of Birkett, Daniel Hinde and James Weighman as they were carried to a hospital to be treated for shock and fatigue.

A mine official said the three men had waited for hours in a section closed off several years ago and then had wandered by a little used "back road" that skirted the blast area until they encountered rescue workers.

No cause has yet been determined for the explosion.

U. N. LINKED UP TO WORLD BANK

Stiff Soviet Opposition Overridden In 13 To 3 Vote Of Council

BY MAX HARRELSON

Lake Success, Aug. 16 (P)—The United Nations economic and social council tonight overrode vigorous Russian opposition and approved a draft agreement linking the international bank for reconstruction and development with the U. N. as a specialized agency.

Despite Soviet charges that the agreement violated the U. N. charter, the council approved by a vote of 13 to 3 an American proposal to accept the agreement and to recommend its approval by the general assembly.

Only Russia, White Russia and Norway voted against the U. N. resolution. Czechoslovakia and New Zealand abstained.

Earlier Russia was defeated, 14 to 3, when she moved formally to send the agreement back to the negotiating committee for revision. The council also rejected a Norwegian proposal to defer action until specific directives were laid down by the general assembly.

The fight over the bank developed as the council drove toward adjournment of its four-week session. As a result of the long debate, the delegates were forced to go into a night session beginning at 7:15 (EST).

Pakistan Asks For U. N. Membership

Lake Success, Aug. 16 (P)—The dominion of Pakistan today applied for United Nations membership. Her co-dominion, India, retains the U. N. membership formerly held by British India.

Pakistan's application was expected to be approved quickly by the security council, which will send its recommendation to the general assembly for final approval.

Four Vacationers Drowned In Lake Off Isle Royale

Houghton, Mich., Aug. 16 (P)—Searching parties, guided from the air, today recovered the body of one of four vacationers reported by the National Park Service headquarters to have drowned in Lake Superior off Isle Royale.

Park Service headquarters here listed the missing as Harold W. Holmes, 43, a general supervisor in Detroit for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., his wife, Erma, 44, and their son, Fritz, 14.

The body of Lucille Pindell, 37, of Columbus, O., was found beneath an overturned 14-foot outboard motor boat by Park Service personnel and a U. S. Coast Guard plane from Traverse City.

The Holmes left their home in Blissfield, Mich., early this week for a vacation in northern Michigan. Relatives were unable to account for Miss Pindell's presence but suggested that she may have been a vacation acquaintance.

Holmes maintained a home in Blissfield to which he moved some months ago from Detroit where he was general commercial results supervisor for Michigan Bell.

The party set out Thursday afternoon from Rock Harbor lodge on Isle Royale and was last seen at 5 p. m. that day off Tobins Harbor, on the northeast tip of the island, where the overturned boat was found.

NEWSMAN QUILTS ON FAIR BOARD

Bob Myers Of Lapeer Attacks Race Track Lease In Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 16 (P)—Bob Myers, a Lapeer newspaperman, announced today he was resigning from the State Fair board, which he accused of a "sellout of the people of Michigan."

In granting the Detroit Racing association a new lease on the State Fair grounds track, Myers said he believed the fair grounds should not be used for racing while the fair is in progress.

He said "rural folks" were "not fans of running races" and a majority of them "believe gambling morally wrong."

"I did not become a member of this board to participate in a sell-out of the people of Michigan or of its agricultural interests which so many thousands have worked so many years to improve," he wrote.

"I was shocked and amazed to sit as a member of the state board and hear that a private group had 'too much money and too much power for the state of Michigan to fight'."

Then he asked: "Must they (racing fans) have the only nine days that the fair grounds are to be used for the purpose the founding fathers intended them?"

The board last week, by an 11 to 4 margin, approved a lease permitting the racing association to have 24 more racing days this year and next. The association, in turn, agreed to submit to the $250,000 rental figure which had been set by an act of the 1947 legislature.

Sigler had warned Reid publicly several months ago that he would not be reappointed. Reid was first appointed in 1937 by former Gov. Frank Murphy, now U. S. Supreme Court Justice.

Cassin is a former mayor of Port Huron and was commissioner of labor in the Murphy administration from 1937 to 1939. A former labor newspaper editor, Cassin now is business manager of the AFL motion picture projectionists union in Port Huron, Sarnia and Wallaceburg, Ont.

Sigler declared Cassin's appointment "will definitely continue to assure good representation on the commission of both employers and employees."

Hurricane Damage Nursed By Tampico As Rain Continues

Tampico, Mexico, Aug. 16 (P)—Tampico, a flooded city without power or transportation, nursed its hurricane hurts tonight as rain continued.

The Panuco river, which flows through Tampico of the Gulf of Mexico, and surrounding lakes were on the rise. Thousands who took refuge elsewhere during yesterday's hurricane returned to their homes to find portions of the city under water.

The hurricane which struck the coast on a 100-mile front has disintegrated into strong winds leaving a casualty list of three known dead, 19 injured and considerable property damage.

Electric service was lacking in this city of 132,000 because the two power plants were flooded. Telegraph wires are down and plane, and bus service is suspended. Telephones still work.

There is no estimate of property damage.

SHOPPING RUSH ON IN WINDSOR

Detroiters Chase Food Bargains In Stores Across Border

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 16 (P)—While economy-minded Detroit housewives by the hundreds continued to chase Windsor food bargains, Canadian customs officials today denied reports that an embargo would be clamped on to stop the run.

And the way the American invasion was affecting Windsor prices indicated the situation would soon work itself out.

The customs authorities expressed a belief the embargo rumors stemmed from wishful thinking on the part of Windsor shoppers, many of whom have taken to outlying stores because of congestion in downtown market places.

The first Detroit-to-Windsor bus at 6 a. m. was jammed as usual today with Detroit bargain hunters. A little later in the day there was a two-block line of American customers waiting to catch a bus back across the Detroit river. In their arms were shopping bags filled with meat, eggs, vegetables, canned goods and other foodstuffs.

Because of the commuting problem, the bus company operating between the two points set up a ruling forbidding more than 12 persons with parcels on any one bus. Each American is limited to $5 worth of Canadian food.

The American run on Windsor's marketplace has forced egg prices up from 45 to 60 cents a dozen in the past week and butter and other food items have risen in proportion.

Monopolies Charged

"Last year's glowing promises of the National Association of Manufacturers that the end of price control would bring skyrocketing production and falling prices has been disapproved by the auto corporations, who dominate that association."

Thomas urged Clark: "To check how far the present system of steel distribution aids 'auto monopoly.'"

To determine how far prices on parts and final assemblies "are determined by one or two of the industry's major producers."

To estimate the "widening gap" between the industry's costs of production and sales prices.

To find an explanation for retail auto prices "now more than 65 per cent above prewar levels."

Spokesmen within the industry were not available immediately for comment on Thomas' statement.

Democrat Chosen To Succeed Reid As MUCC Member

Lansing, (P)—John F. Cassin, Port Huron Democrat, was appointed to the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission today by Governor Sigler to succeed John Reid, Secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor who has been a member since the commission's inception more than 10 years ago.

Cassin's appointment was for a four-year term ending January 8, 1951.

Sigler had warned Reid publicly several months ago that he would not be reappointed. Reid was first appointed in 1937 by former Gov. Frank Murphy, now U. S. Supreme Court Justice.

Cassin is a former mayor of Port Huron and was commissioner of labor in the Murphy administration from 1937 to 1939. A former labor newspaper editor, Cassin now is business manager of the AFL motion picture projectionists union in Port Huron, Sarnia and Wallaceburg, Ont.

Danube Is Helping Germany, Austria

Berlin (P)—American authorities have hitched every available power-producing fall in the Danube river to deliver power for the United States zone's coal-short industry.

Now they are giving the Austrian economy a boost with coal deliveries via the Danube. The first substantial commercial traffic on the Danube since the war began during July when 25,000 tons of Ruhr coal sold to Austria was delivered to mills in Linz producing steel and nitrogen for fertilizers. These Danube shipments in August were expected to total 50,000 tons.

Big-scale utilization of the Danube for commercial shipments by U. S. authorities was delayed by lack of control over sizable stretch of the river.

FEDERAL QUIZ OF CAR COSTS ASKED BY CIO

MARGIN OF $222 TOO MUCH, SAYS R. J. THOMAS

Detroit, Aug. 16. (P)—Vice-President R. J. Thomas of the CIO United Auto Workers, labelling car price increases "pure and simple profiteering," today urged Attorney General Clark to investigate the auto industry's price and profit policies.

His demand came as Chrysler Corp. announced price boosts of from $45 to $143 on passenger cars and trucks, the sixth auto firm to increase its price tags this month.

Chrysler, estimating its increase at an average of $87 for Plymouth, DeSoto, Dodge and Chrysler passenger cars and $65 for most truck models, followed a pattern set by General Motors Corp., Nash-Kelvinator Corp., Kaiser - Frazer Corp., the Packard Motor Car Co., and Hudson Motor Car Co.

Only Ford and Studebaker, among the major auto producers have yet to increase prices in the latest upward spiral.

In each case, manufacturers have blamed mounting labor and materials costs for the boosts.

Thomas asserted that "Price cuts rather than price increases are demanded in the interest of future industry sales and employment."

He contended that $50 per unit was considered "a good profit" before the war "when industry sought high volume through reasonable prices." Today, he charged, major producers are making a profit averaging $222 on the wholesale price of every car and truck.

"This is pure and simple profiteering," Thomas continued, "wage adjustments given auto workers in 1947 were substantially less than savings in labor costs which have been coming steadily to the auto industry as new equipment is brought into production and general efficiency advances. Even the illegitimate increase in steel prices can have added no more than $10 to the material cost of the average motor vehicle."

Monopolies Charged

"Last year's glowing promises of the National Association of Manufacturers that the end of price control would bring skyrocketing production and falling prices has been disapproved by the auto corporations, who dominate that association."

Thomas urged Clark: "To check how far the present system of steel distribution aids 'auto monopoly.'"

To determine how far prices on parts and final assemblies "are determined by one or two of the industry's major producers."

To estimate the "widening gap" between the industry's costs of production and sales prices.

To find an explanation for retail auto prices "now more than 65 per cent above prewar levels."

NEED RAIN FOR POTATO CROP

Joseph Heirman Makes 2nd Inspection, South County Dry

A potato crop in good condition, except for dryness in the southern part of Delta county, was reported Saturday by Joseph Heirman, Delta County Agricultural agent. Mr. Heirman has just completed his second inspection of potatoes this summer.

Due to lack of rain in the lower part of the county, evidence of blight was found in nearly every field. In consideration of this the following pointers are offered farmers to insure a good crop of certified seed potatoes.

Spray potatoes thoroughly every week with copper and DDT. (Weather conditions have been favorable for spread of blight).

Vines should be killed 10 days or more before digging, if frost has not done so in advance of harvest season. Green or partly green vines at harvest time may result in blight rot in storage and increase loss due to mechanical injury.

Because the 1947 crop was planted late, the potatoes this year are apt to be immature and easily bruised. Therefore the greatest care should be taken to avoid mechanical injury. Ring rot infection can be prevented by disinfecting all harvesting, storing and grading equipment. Storage should be disinfected two weeks in advance of harvest.

Seed should be stored in the farmer's own storage whenever possible. Good air circulation in-

WOOD RESEARCH GROUP CHOSEN

Juel Lee Of Escanaba Named Member Of Committee

Dr. Grover C. Dillman, president of the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, announced that the Michigan legislature has approved a research program in the industrial utilization and marketing of Michigan wood products to be carried on by the college in cooperation with state industries. The purpose of the program is to develop industry and further employment in forest areas of the state.

The act provides that plans and results of the research program shall be reviewed periodically by an advisory committee appointed by the Board of Control of the college, the committee to include representatives of several branches of the wood-using industries.

In a recent meeting the board made the following appointments to the advisory committee: Abbott Fox of the Abbott Fox Lumber company of Iron Mountain and Ray Aldridge of Forest Products in Mohawk, representing the sawmilling industry; Juel Lee, manager of the Birds-Eye Veneer company of Escanaba, representing the veneer and plywood manufacturers; Charles S. Slining, president of Northwoods Manufacturing company of Manistique, and John W. Ainsworth Dancers In Parade Of Stars At U. P. State Fair

Precision dancing, offered by the 16 Ainsworth Dancers, celebrated chorus of 16 dancing girls, hand-picked for their beauty as well as superb skill, will be one of the many high-lights of the fast-moving musical extravaganza, "Parade of Stars," which is to be presented nightly in front of the grandstand the first four days of the Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba, Aug. 19 to 24, inclusive.

Culled from the ranks of leading dancers in Broadway musicals and in lush New York night clubs, the sixteen girls have gained widespread distinction as a unit because of their fast-paced and flawlessly presented precision routines.

Outstanding fame in precision dancing comes to few units. Only a few dancers, as a matter of fact, elect to do precision dancing, inasmuch as the slightest deviation from a routine by any one dancer will throw off the entire line. In the case of this group of dancers, any one of 16 girls could thus ruin an offering.

By repeated rehearsals, under the demanding tutelage of one of the nation's foremost dancing masters, they were fused into an ensemble that renders fast precision numbers without flaws. And their matchless nerve heightens their effectiveness.

Other numbers than precision routines also are offered by them in the colorful production. And in these they range the full scope of chorus dancing, affording added variety and gayety to the elaborate spectacle.

In each of their appearances they are costumed differently. And each change of costume seems to out-do the previous one in eye-catching lavishness.

State Fair Week

PERUSAL of the six-day program of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, which will open on Tuesday and close Sunday night, indicates that the 1947 exposition will be the most colorful and interesting in the history of institution.

Last year's fair made an exceptionally good financial showing because the management saw to it that the public received the kind of attractions it enjoys. With its prestige thus enhanced, the 1947 exposition should attract record-breaking crowds and additional livestock, crops and other exhibits.

In addition to the dazzling night show in front of the grandstand, the state fair will present such entertainment attractions as motorcycle races, horse pulling contests, the WLS Show, and Jimmie Lynch and his Death Dodgers. Always popular with fair crowds, the midway will offer a galaxy of rides and shows, with a featured free act, Zucchini the Human Bullet, which promises to be the talk of the week.

The Upper Peninsula State Fair is an agriculture and educational institution, which at the same time offers the public a well-rounded program of entertainment at reasonable prices. It is encouraging to note that Upper Peninsula newspapers and radio stations have been giving much publicity to the Hiawathaland region's own state fair during the past several weeks. The generous support the fair is receiving everywhere is unmistakable evidence that its worth is generally recognized.

New Safety Group

ANOTHER traffic safety committee has been organized to lend assistance to the police department in the promotion of safer driving and walking on Escanaba's streets.

Safety committees come and go, but there is no denying that all contribute something to the public welfare. The next meeting of the group is scheduled for Aug. 27, and it is to be hoped it will not be the last. In the past, too many citizens' committees, assigned to the study of community problems, have become inactive after the first organization meeting.

Like every other city, Escanaba has its traffic problems. Despite the police department's efforts to enforce city ordinances, automobile speeding continues, for it is a permanent problem. As new business establishments open or move on Ludington street, the parking problem will continue. Control of both automobile and pedestrian traffic at busy intersections is another.

There is a need for a permanent safety committee. It will do no good to hold one meeting, hurriedly adopt some recommendations for others to carry out, and then pass into oblivion, as has been the experience with many advisory bodies of this type in the past.

Krupps Indicted

TWELVE officials of the Krupp munitions industry have been indicted in the Nuremberg war crimes court on charges of being hand in glove with the Nazi clique in its plot to gain world mastery.

Evidence gathered by the American prosecutors shows that the Krupps profited greatly from the war-mongering activities of Hitler. They also carried the Nazi propaganda all over the globe, and through their widespread operations did much espionage work for the Fatherland, it is charged.

The Krupps have been making the sinews of war in Germany for 133 years. From munitions making they branched out to the manufacture of machinery and other heavy goods, but always they were trafficking in arms. The Krupps have been the backbone of German militarism. If anyone is guilty in Germany of fomenting war it is the Krupps.

Chemicals Are Booming

INDUSTRIAL chemicals are the big thing in today's roaring production era. They are being ground out at a rate over four times the 1935-1939 tempo. New factories are being built as fast as materials can be found for them, and plants building and planned will double production again by 1950.

The largest company in the business is I. E. Du Pont de Nemours, Du Pont—"The Bridge"—for short. The Du Pont ancestors were driven from France three centuries or so ago in the persecution of the Huguenots. France's loss was America's gain. The concern has plants worth $580 million, and it plans to expand another $300 million in the next three years.

Union Carbide & Carbon Corporation is the second largest. It had $420 million in plants at the end of 1946, and it will spend $70 in expansion this year.

Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation comes third, specializing in coal tar products. In the past, Allied made bulk products for other manufacturers, but times are changing. Today it is the biggest maker of "soapless" soaps, selling its own brand, "Swirl."

The Dow Chemical Company of Midland is growing at a tremendous rate. It started with brine wells at Midland, Michigan, then branched out to the ocean as a more abundant source of raw material. From sea water Dow takes millions of pounds of light magnesium metal, although there is only 1/100th of a pound of metal in a gallon of the ocean brine.

Monsanto, Victor, Cyanamid, Pfizer and hundreds of other manufacturers are performing miracles in the reduction of limestone, petroleum, brine, coal, animal and vegetable fats, and dozens of other commonplace raw materials. They are adding billions to the wealth of America, and materializing a thousand comforts and conveniences that were but dreams yesterday. Our chemical and plastics makers are doing much to replace the wealth wasted by war, and to make life more worth living.

Fascinating Business

THE dramatic story of America's railroads is told in "This Fascinating Railroad Business," by Robert Selph Henry, a Bobbs-Merrill publication. The book was first issued some years ago. The new edition is a complete revision, which carries the chronicle of the Iron Horse through the last war and up to the present.

Mr. Henry's book is written for the layman, in swift and readable prose. And the story it tells is one in which all Americans can find reason for pride. The railroads were the dominant single factor in the opening of the West and building the American nation. And, once the pioneering job was done, it was the railroads which made possible the fast, economical transportation of the products of farm and factory to every corner of the United States. Steel manufactured in Pittsburgh is used next week in Florida—and apples from the Pacific Northwest are sold in the markets of Maine. So it goes throughout the entire complex economy of the nation—with transportation by rail supporting the system upon which American prosperity rests.

In time of the war, the role of the railroads is of great significance. Troops trained in California embark from New York—and the railroads take them there. Munitions produced in Connecticut are loaded in San Francisco for transportation to the Pacific—and, again, the railroads are the connecting link. Other types of transportation also perform vital jobs—but, in scope and volume of service, the railroads are incomparable.

The history of railroads, therefore, is largely the history of this nation. That was true in the past. It will be true in the future.

VACATION BUDGETS HIT

(Iron Mountain News)

A slump is reported in tourist traffic in the Upper Peninsula and the principal cause is not difficult to determine. It is, according to information given directors of the U. P. Development bureau at their meeting in Marquette, the fact that living costs have cut so deeply into family pocketbooks, large numbers of persons do not have enough money for expensive vacations.

Reduced budgets have made it necessary for many persons to shorten for many persons to shorten their vacation period. Others find their funds too meager to permit travel, because the cost of travel and of staying at hotels and resorts has increased the same as the cost of living at home.

Representatives of Sault Ste. Marie reported the slump in tourist business there approximates 25 per cent, compared to the record for last year. Canada has suffered to a greater extent. The Northern Ontario Outfitters' association says tourist and resort trade in that area is off almost 50 per cent.

Although some of the Peninsula's resort centers report a good season, few, if any, have been rushed and there appears to be no doubt the overall total of vacation-period business will be less than last year's and will not measure up to what was predicted. There is little resort operators trade can do about it, provided they have kept their prices as low as possible. They are faced with an economic condition that is nation-wide and cannot hope for a larger volume of business until that condition improves. There never will be a slump in the desire of almost everybody to take vacations and travel and they will continue to do so, year after year, but the kind of vacation they take and the amount of traveling they do always will be measured by the amount of money they can afford to spend.

An Indiana safecracker got only a gross of pencils. We suggest he use them to write home for money.

In hot weather the goblets will get you if you don't watch out—if you put too much strong stuff in 'em.

Washington — Before you make your stew, you must first catch your rabbit. That is an ancient bit of advice that politicians too often conveniently ignore.

With a great fanfare of publicity, Attorney General Tom C. Clark has announced a campaign of criminal prosecution against those who conspire to increase the price of food, clothing and shelter. He has captured the headlines but whether he will capture anything more substantial is a question.

Clark in particular has a habit of advertising his stew before he has even begun to chase the rabbit through the tall grass. He makes many speeches and is frequently photographed doing conspicuous good deeds. In cynical Washington the common explanation for this behavior is that Clark wants to be the vice-presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket next year.

—RELIEF NEEDED, BUT—

One can wish the Attorney General the best luck in the world in his drive on profiteers. Certainly relief from high prices is what most Americans want above everything else. But if he is going to put everyone in jail who helped to force prices up, we are going to need a lot more jails.

What is more, if Clark looks around suddenly at a cabinet meeting, he is likely to find a culprit or two within arm's length. Two fundamental errors of the Truman administration contributed to the upward spiral of prices immediately after the war's end.

One was the repeal of the excess profits tax. The other was the removal of wage controls and the encouragement of labor in demanding additional pay. It would be hard to say which move did the most damage.

Repeal of the excess profits tax, in the face of the vast consumer demand after four years of war, made possible the swollen profits reported by most large corporations in recent months. For the corporations those profits are decidedly a mixed blessing. They have been used by union leaders as the background for a demand for higher wages and lower prices.

At the time the repeal was proposed, there was a kind of conspiracy of silence. Almost the only leader of stature to speak against it was Bernard M. Baruch, who foresaw plainly what such a move would mean.

—HIGHER WAGES, HIGHER PRICES—

Higher wages have contributed to higher prices. While you can argue whether this has been the principal cause of the price rise, no one can deny that it is a major factor. In the vicious upward-see-saw, wages may have kept a little bit ahead. The statistical experts show that the race has been close during the past year and a half.

But the plain, unvarnished fact is that almost no one, of whatever political party or whatever economic group, is guiltless in connection with the price spiral. The unorganized, the old who live on pensions or small savings, have had least to do with it and they have suffered most.

There are very real limits on what Clark can actually do. He talks about invoking the anti-trust laws against those guilty of collusion in price rises, curtailment of output or restriction of capacity expansion.

That is a large order. It must be measured against the fact that successful anti-trust prosecution can occur only in a climate of opinion sympathetic to it. As head of the anti-trust division of the justice department, Thurman Arnold considered it one of his duties to try to create a favorable climate. He was able to dramatize the issue of monopoly, whether in industry or in labor, versus competition. In the years since he left the department of justice, opinion has shifted. No one with the same force and zeal has come along to show what the stakes are.

So long as we can have competition, we are not too badly off. The question, as has been pointed out often in this space, is how much competition is left in our country.

We will get plenty of political speeches about high prices between now and November, 1948. It looks as though inflation might be the chief political football next year, but the speeches will have little effect on what you and I pay for a loaf of bread.

man" or "Scotsman?"—G. L.

A. In Scotland the form "Scotsman" is preferred. Also correct is "Scot" (singular) and "Scots" (plural). The name is from the Old Irish "Seut," name of a North Ireland people who settled in Scotland in the fifth century.

Cleveland: To settle an argument will you please state whether the adjective "insipid" can describe food, as "This meat is insipid?"—A. B.

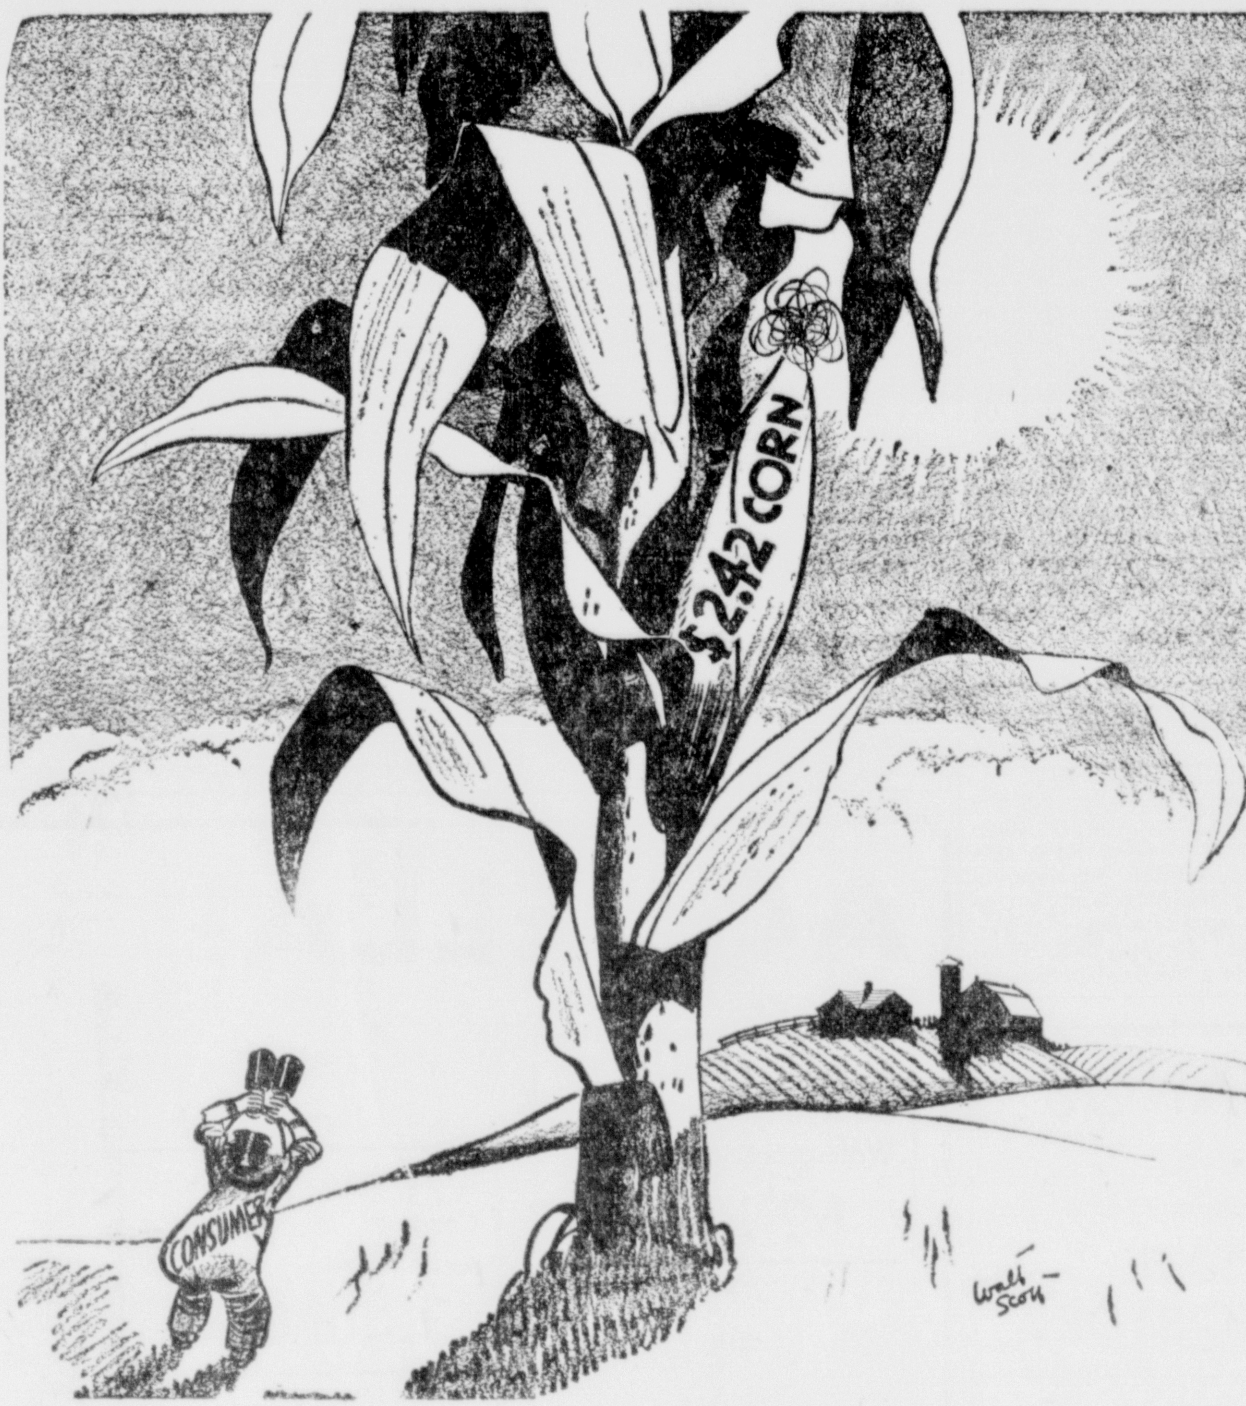

A. Of course it can; it is primarily a "food" word, for its literal meaning is "without taste or savor." By extension, it also means lifeless, dull, stale, as "an insipid plot, an insipid speech, an insipid motion picture."

Santa Paula: Here is a clipping of a magazine ad about carillon bells. It quotes a well-known minister as saying, "Your 'Carillon Bells' has been in operation in our church for almost a year, and there has been fulsome praise from our own members and other groups." Can't you do something, Colby?—G. M. M.

A. For several years I have devoted much space to the word "fulsome," explaining that it means "offensive; repulsive; disgusting; foul." Merriam Webster's defines "fulsome praise" as "offensive from insincerity or baseness of motive." Nevertheless, we continue to read of "mom's fulsome meals," of rooms being flooded with "fulsome sunshine," of girls wearing long and "fulsome" evening dresses, etc.

Professional writers especially should shun fulsome. There is no place in good modern English for the obsolete word.

Hollywood—Exclusively Yours: Now that the movie "Slave Girl" is clicking at the box-office, here's a typical Hollywood story told good to keep. The studio is taking bows for the nerve to kid the corny plot via a "talking" camel.

The camel was an afterthought—after sneak preview audiences had done the same kidding, only in much louder and more critical tones.

Frank Sinatra winds up "The Kissing Bandit" this week and then takes a flier to New York—minus Mrs. S.—for 10 days. . . . Starting date for "State of the Union" is set for Sept. 1. Spencer Tracy, back from New York, and Frank Capra are in constant huddles. . . . George Kaufman says he's waiting for the night to hear a doorman call: "Miss Kerr's (car) Kerr (cur) please!"

Ann Sothern was visiting the "Roundabout" set at RKO to see Bob Sterling. Together again? . . . Vincent Price will sing four numbers in "Up in Central Park," making his musical film debut. He used to sing with the Yale Glee Club.

Jones To Hawaii

Allan Jones is still riding the vitamin trail. He just signed for a series of open-air concerts in the Hawaiian Islands, beginning Sept. 15. . . . The Steve Cochran-Fay McKenzie split is definite. The divorce suit will be filed in California. Steve is forgetting it all on his 27-foot sailboat, waiting for a call to start in "That's Life."

Maria Montez will be back early from Europe. She wants to make personal appearances with openings of "Atlantis" (she owns part of the film) and hopes the courts will free her from her UI contract. She'll be back in September. . . . The Robert Aldas are celebrating their 12th wedding anniversary.

Now that Warner Bros. have announced plans to make the life of Eddie Cantor. Sam Goldwyn will reissue some of the early Cantor musicals for the youngsters to see. "Palmy Days" is first on the schedule.

Bob Cummings won't be the archangel Mike in "Heaven Only Knows." Producer Seymour Nebenzahl changed his character to an angel named Mike, so certain religious groups couldn't take offense.

Resignation Reason

Louis Hayward's secretary left him, he swears, after penning this withering note: "My reason for leaving, Mr. Hayward, is that you are much too difficult to work for. Anyone who insists that words can only be spelled their way is difficult."

With no screen roles in view, Lew Ayres is interested in doing the new Steve Fisher-Sloan Nibley play, "Turf Cafe." It has a Santa Anita background and is the story of a man who seeks a new life. . . . Warner executives have issued orders to the story department to find a sophisticated comedy for Eve Arden a la Roz Russell lines. . . . Bob Crosby, lieutenant-governor of Nebraska, visited Bob Crosby in Hollywood. The executive looks enough like the Crosby clan to be a member of the family.

Strange how careers go in Hollywood. Three years ago Myrna Loy, Hollywood figured, was washed up. After two pretty dismal films, "Thin Man Goes Home" and "So Goes My Love,"

Q. Have American pilots made many new records?

A. Yes. Since V-J Day, August 15, 1947, national and international records have been set by our pilots. Of these, three U. S. national and 25 international records were broken; four new international records were established. One record, the helicopter flight duration record, was twice broken by AAF pilots.

Q. Have GI's continued to take advantage of terminal leave pay provisions?

A. Up to July 18, 1947, more than 9,000,000 claims, totaling more than $2,000,000,000, had been paid. Most of this was paid in 5-year bonds.

Q. What is the significance of clipping the hair or shaving the head?

A. In the Catholic Church shaving the head was typical of the various holy orders. The shaven part may have represented the halo of sanctity or the crown of the royal priesthood. In St. Peter's tonsure the whole crown was shaved, but a fringe of hair was left to represent the crown of thorns—this was the tonsure of the Latin Church. In St. Paul's tonsure, the tonsure of the Greek or Oriental church, the whole head was shaved. A semicircle above the forehead, from ear to ear, but not reaching to the hind part of the head, in Simon Magus' tonsure, was shaved. Sometimes this was called St. James' tonsure and was adopted by Irish missionaries.

Q. Why do red roses appear red?

A. Because the surface of such roses absorb the blue and yellow rays of light and reflect only the red.

Q. Does a hockey puck travel very fast?

A. According to tests made by Dr. Dana Warren of the University of Omaha, with an oscilloscope, it travels at an average rate of 88 miles per hour.

Q. Is it unlawful for "loan sharks" to make loans on terminal leave bonds?

A. No. However, the lender runs the risk of losing all or part of the money loaned. The law specifically states that terminal leave bonds may not be cashed by anyone other than the veteran, except in case of his death before the bonds become cashable and then to the specified next-of-kin.

Q. How high was the previous record peak of the Mississippi?

A. It was recorded at 41.3 inches in 1844. In 1944 it reached 39.14 inches, the highest in 100 years.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

(EDITOR'S NOTE—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

Washington—Insiders are wagering the British labor government will ease its tax crackdown on U. S. movies.

Reason for this optimism is a trump card U. S. film-makers have been waving threateningly behind the scenes at the Attlee regime.

This counterblow is a ban on the importation of British films into the U. S.

A move of this kind would hit the British very hard. Last year, they derived $22,000,000 from U. S. moviegoers; this year's estimate is around $30,000,000.

The threatened ban is not an idle gesture. The eight largest studios in Hollywood have urged such action on Eric Johnston, film czar, if the British government doesn't come to terms. The producers already have outlawed the export of pictures to England.

—ODD TEST—

Universal plaint among government officials is their inability to obtain "high-class personnel." They are constantly wallowing about being unable to persuade "good men" to take government jobs.

One very good reason for this difficulty is to be found in some of the peculiar questions of a so-called "psychological test" required by the Central Intelligence Group. This is one of the questions an applicant for a CIG job must answer:

"At what age did you stop wetting your bed?"

—HOT TIME IN RIO—

There are going to be a lot of other things settled at the Rio conference in addition to the fate of Pan-American unity. One is a red-hot vendetta seething in the curvaceous bosom of Dona Maria Eva Duarte De Peron, ornamental and ambitious wife of Argentina's semi-dictator president.

"Evita," as Senora Peron is widely known, is bent on using the conference to settle a score with Dr. Ricardo Guardo, president of the Argentine Chamber of Deputies. This is the behind-the-scenes story of the reason for the lady's fury:

Shortly after Evita's arrival in Spain, on the first lap of her recent, much-publicized European tour, opposition Deputy Ernesto Sammartino rose in the chamber and proposed a new law. Under its terms, wives and relatives of government officials would be barred from accepting decorations from foreign countries.

The target of the bill was obvious. Evita had just been decorated by Spanish Dictator Franco with the Grand Cross of Isabella the Catholic amid much pomp and hoopla.

Sammartino's bill threw the chamber into an uproar. Peronists and the small but solidly united opposition screamed insults and invectives at one another, and a number came to blows. The net result of the stormy session was three deaths and a curt order to Dr. Curado from Evita in Madrid to have Sammartino "removed from the chamber before I return."

In government circles in Buenos Aires the glamorous "Presidenta's" word is law. So, dutifully, the wheels were set in motion to bounce Sammartino.

This seemed certain as the Peronists constitute two-thirds of the chamber, exactly the number needed to expel a member. But strangely, two majority members developed a mysterious illness and failed to show up. Even more strangely, two other Peronists bluntly announced they would not vote for the expulsion motion.

This defiance ended any hope of axing the irreverent Sammartino.

Home On Display At Fair Grounds

A demonstration of rapid home building was given at the Upper Peninsula State Fairgrounds last week when the Modern Housing Corp. of Lansing erected a house, 32 by 24, in two days.

Four workmen started erecting a Riker Rigid-Craft home 9:30 o'clock Friday morning and at nightfall had it all ready for shingling. Construction was completed Saturday morning.

The home will be on display during the fair, and thereafter will be used as the fair administration building. It consists of the following rooms: living room, 18' 3" by 13' 3"; one bedroom 12' 3" by 9' 3"; a second bedroom 9' 10' 3" by 10' 3"; one bathroom, 5' 6" 9"; and a kitchen, 12' 4" by 9' 3". Each bedroom has a room closet.

C. G. Harder, sales manager of Modern Housing Corp., and Tony Bertram, designer, came from Lansing to supervise the installation.

ary are the Experimental station at Chatham, various industries of Upper Michigan and the National Forests of this region.

They have not traveled much in the United States and are personally conducted on their tour by the professor of agricultural economics.

Two Rudenkos Will Headline Program At U. P. State Fair

The Rudenkos, Igor and George, who are included among the many headliners who will be presented in the grandstand show the first four days of the Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba, August 19 to 24 inclusive, are in their early twenties, yet they are embraced among the world's foremost jugglers.

It is their youth, coupled with their amazing skill, which enables them to accomplish some of the feats which has turned them into stellar performers. Probably their most breath-taking offering is one in which they juggle flaming torches, first singly, then together. They do this with breath-taking speed, twirling the torches at high speed as they juggle them.

Also outstanding in their attention-commanding performance is one number in which one member, while balancing himself on two large balls, one of which is placed upon the other, juggles nine balls with one loose leg and knee, both hands, his head and with a tube held in his mouth. Still another notable contribution is given by one of the brothers when, while standing on one leg and twirling a hoop around the loose ankle of the other leg, he bounces a ball on his head, and at the same time juggles four hoops with his hands.

The Rudenkos started juggling when youngsters, and, now tho in their early twenties, have been at it for more than fifteen years.

Ginger ale is the drink of the senses — it can be seen, heard, smelled, touched, and tasted.

NOTICE

We will be closed from Monday, August 18th thru Friday, August 22nd. We will open again Saturday, August 23rd.

And Donald J.
Blanchette Wed

In a double ring ceremony which took place Saturday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Miss Helen Hayson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayson, of 25 Highland avenue, Wells, became the bride of Donald J. Blanchette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blanchette, also of Wells.

The vows were spoken before Rev. Fr. Patrick, O. F. M., who was celebrant of the wedding mass.

Attending the couple were Miss Lorraine Jolicoeur, who was maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Blanchette, sister of the bridegroom, who was bridesmaid, Arthur Anderson, who served as best man, and Leonard Mileksi, groomsmen.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white nylon over satin, of traditional princess lines, with lace inserts. The bodice, with its sweetheart neckline, had soft shirring and a row of tiny buttons down the back, the sleeves tapered to points over the wrists, and the skirt formed a full length train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was caught to a crown of seed pearls. She wore a single strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and white gladioli.

Lorraine's gown was of yellow nylon over satin and her flower headpiece and shoulder veil of the same shade. She carried yellow roses. Dorothy was dressed in pink, the gown made with a satin bodice and overskirt of net. She wore a matching headpiece and carried pink roses.

The bride's mother wore violet shade and the bridegroom's mother, a black ensemble. Both mother's had shoulder bouquets of roses.

Will Live In Wells
A wedding breakfast was served at the Hayson home and a wedding supper at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Garden flowers and the tiered wedding cake formed the decorations.

Following a wedding trip to Milwaukee and Chicago, the couple will live in Wells. The bride is a graduate of Escanaba high school. Her husband, also an Escanaba high school graduate, served in the United States Air Corps for two years and is now employed by the Shepek Dimension company.

Major E. J. Leer Takes Command Here; Brings His French War Bride

Command of the U. S. Army and Air Force recruiting station in Escanaba has been assumed by Major Edwin J. Leer, who arrived here Friday from Fort Lewis, Washington. His assignment here climaxes 21 years of foreign service with the Army, last of which was in Greece.

Mrs. Leer, a French war bride, accompanied her husband and the two are living at 901 Second avenue South.

During the time Major Leer was assigned in Greece, to reconnoiter with the French and British during recent elections, Mrs. Leer proceeded to the United States from Marseilles. She arrived in New York and then traveled to LaMoure, N. D., to visit with the major's parents.

The major, who fought in the battles of North Africa, Italian invasion, and the Rhineland during the recent war, met Charlotte Eugenie Michel, now Mrs. Leer, the day of the invasion of Sicily. At the time Mademoiselle Michel was operating a restaurant in Algeria. Twice a week the major would see her, while watching supply lines and attending to business in town.

Mrs. Leer, petite and gracious, is gradually becoming quite fond of the United States. Her first impressions were not too good—she arrived in March 1946—and was snowbound in Fargo, N. D., for several days.

Major Leer states that on occasions she slips him some French foods, and that they are very good. Mrs. Leer is learning to cook American-style foods now. When the reporter was interviewing the couple, the major's French bride thought coffee would go well.

Up until Saturday Mrs. Leer made coffee with powder—the only form available for a long time in Riem, France, her home town. The first experiment was really a courageous one and came out all right.

137 Political Parties

Speaking of his experiences in Greece, Major Leer first of all emphasized that there are 137 political parties. Of these people 77 per cent are Royalists in favor of the monarchy. The other 23 per cent constitute 136 parties.

Greece, Major Leer stated, was divided into five sectors. Two American, two British and one French officer combined to constitute the administrative staff of the districts, with each having about 24 patrol parties.

About 90 per cent of the cases reviewed by the major were based on unfounded data and represented primarily feuds between various cities. Major Leer reported elections were ignored on voting day by what is known as the Communist party.

Asked about souvenirs, he stated there was just one thing he had wanted. The observation crew was passing through Salonika and in one of the hotels he noticed some table linen of real flax linen, handspun and handwoven. Thinking he would buy it on the return trip, he neglected to make an immediate purchase. They returned by a different route.

In their living quarters, Major and Mrs. Leer do however have some picture frames hand-made in Yugoslavia and others designed by German POW's, 550 of whom the major commanded at one time.

Gives Greek Shirt

Major Leer, who began his Army career as private on the Texas-Mexican border, talked much of Greece. The money—how an American dollar will now buy 5,000 drachmas—the eagerness of Greeks who have been in the United States to acquire enough American dollars to return—some of them to properties held by them and now being lost because of inability to pay taxes.

He told of the fellow, with a stack of mortgages and deeds for American property over a foot high, who had lost everything including his United States citizenship when he joined the Greek army. Now he is poorer than the American poor—when the major was with the fellow the former gave him a pair of army trousers and a shirt. The major stated the fellow had patched his clothing so many times, it was impossible to tell what the original color was.

Though the major is not fluent in any foreign language, he has, with the Army, covered Europe and for 13 years of his service years was in Spanish-speaking countries. Mrs. Leer has learned to speak English and for one who has been in the United States little more than a year, is very fluent. Major Leer says "Her hand is forced, I can't speak French."

Disgusted With French

Major Leer said Mrs. Leer heartily dislikes the boche, but is not as vehement now. At present she is a little disgusted with her countrymen for not making greater progress in reconstruction.

Major Leer considers his assignment to Michigan more or less permanent. He requested duty in this state.

As the reporter left Bobby, the terrier, announced her good-byes. She understands French, but has difficulty with the major's English.

Aces Of Scattergun Gather In Vandalia For Grand American

BY FRITZ HOWELL

Dayton, O., Aug. 16 (AP)—The nation's scattergun crackshots were converging today on nearby Vandalia for Monday's opening of the week-long 48th annual roaring grand American trapshoot. Entries have been received from all the 48 states, most of Canada's provinces, Cuba and the Canal Zone.

Top event of the week's barrage is the Grand American Handicap, the big windup in which the marksmen are given distance handicaps corresponding with their shooting averages and ability, the better ones being placed far back from the traps which send the discs flying into the air.

No shooter has ever won the big prize more than once, and few favorites have ever grabbed the laurels, some "unknown from nowhere" generally emerging with the coveted trophy and the long end of the $10,000 handicap prize. Other races are for juniors, women, husbands and wives, fathers and sons, state champions and state teams, all of which will be fired from the 16-yard mark.

About $50,000 in prize money will be distributed to the victors, along with an enormous amount of silver trophies.

Capt. Frank T. Bennett, air lines pilot from Miami, Fla., was winner of the big handicap a year ago.

DE VALERA COMING

Dublin, Aug. 16 (AP)—Irish Republican Party Leader Sean MacBride said tonight he had been informed that Eamon De Valera, Eire's prime minister, would visit the United States in September.

U. S. Girls Get Hold On Wightman Cup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Aug. 16 (AP)—Uncle Sam's tennis girls, as anticipated, proved entirely too good for Britain's post-war court products today, and swept through three straight matches on the center court at Forest Hills to take all the edge off the Wightman Cup matches before they were well begun.

Although more than an hour was lost when rain broke into the opening singles match, there still was plenty of daylight left after the American free-swingers had salted away two singles and one doubles.

They needed to win only one of tomorrow's four concluding matches to keep the International trophy on this side of the Atlantic for another year.

The Dominion of Canada now has 18 national parks, with a total area of 12,059 square miles.

Weather conditions in this area, in an agricultural sense, have been generally rated as unfavorable. To date, however, only crops that have been seriously hit are berry crops which those who depend on them as an item of income have scratched off as a failure.

Potatoes are showing up well. The vines are thrifty and the number of potatoes forming is above average. But here, also, the long protracted dry spell is retarding development of the spuds and growers fear that the inevitable frost may come before the crops are mature. This concern is felt particularly in the Cooks area.

Not all farmers are complaining, however. Those dependent upon forage crops are gratified over the splendid hay crop harvested thus far. Grain crops—particularly oats, barley and rye—are showing up unusually well this year. A large field of rye on the Richards Brothers farm at McMillan now being harvested, stands well over six feet. The binders used in cutting have had their sickle bars raised the limit so as to prevent jamming of the binding mechanism.

Two Injured In Motor Mishap
East Of City

Mrs. Earl DeMille, of Stevenson, suffered a broken arm and Miss Mary Lou Mueller of the same city suffered cuts on the head when the car in which they were riding struck a rut on the shoulder of Highway US-2 near Elanay and overturned.

The driver, Miss Joan Heidenreich, of Daggett, had veered slightly off the road, when the car hit the rut, and she is trying to shift the vehicle back onto the paving lost temporary control of the car and it turned completely over. She and Mrs. Herbert Corey, owner of the car, were unhurt. The car was badly wrecked.

The injured people are being treated in the Shaw hospital.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Amanda Olson, who passed away 3 years ago, August 18th. She always leaned to watch for us.

Anxious if we were late, In winter by the window, In summer by the gate.

Her thoughts were all so full of us, She never could forget! And so I think that where she is She must be watching yet;

Waiting till we come home to her, Anxious if we are late— Watching from Heaven's window, Leaning from Heaven's gate.

Sadly missed by her children, Arvid, Signe, Elmer, Abbie, Clara and Ralph. Naubinway, Mich.

In compliance with the expressed wishes of many of its members, the Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce is acting to protect the public against out-of-town vendors whose activity may be open to question.

K. card at the office of the secretary at the Triangle park. An investigation of these solicitors will be made and if found satisfactory, the solicitor or agent will be given a card endorsed by three members of the Chamber of Commerce. quested, when approached by these solicitors, to be shown their card and if they have none, insist that they get one.

This is a service that the Chamber of Commerce stresses, Leonard Mulhaupt, secretary, states. He states that many complaints have come to him of late of activities of solicitors who were not what they represented themselves to be. For that reason, the secretary states, the public should insist on being shown the Chamber of Commerce card, by those out-of-town vendors who approach them.
